

Waste Management, Inc. Elects Bradbury H. Anderson to Board of Directors

Aug 16, 2011

HOUSTON, Aug 16, 2011 (BUSINESS WIRE) -- Waste Management, Inc. (NYSE: WM) today announced that Bradbury H. Anderson, formerly Vice Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Best Buy Co. Inc., was elected to its Board of Directors on Thursday, August 11th.

Mr. Anderson's career at Best Buy included a broad range of experiences. Mr. Anderson started at Best Buy in 1973, and held various assignments of increasing responsibility before being named Vice President in 1981. He was named President and Chief Operating Officer for Best Buy in 1991. In 2002, Mr. Anderson assumed the responsibility of Vice Chairman and Chief Executive Officer for Best Buy. He retired from his Chief Executive Officer role in June 2009.

"Brad led Best Buy through a highly successful customer segmentation transformation during a time of significant change in the electronics retail business. We believe that his experience in customer focus and segmenting will provide invaluable perspective and guidance to both our Board and our management team. We are pleased to have him as part of our team," said David P. Steiner, Chief Executive Officer of Waste Management.

Mr. Anderson holds a Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Denver. He was a member of the Best Buy board of directors until his retirement in June 2010, and currently serves on the board of Carlson, a private travel and hospitality company, and General Mills.

The election of Mr. Anderson brings the size of Waste Management's Board of Directors to nine members, eight of whom are independent.
