

Waste Management Named 2014 World's Most Ethical Company by the Ethisphere Institute

Mar 20, 2014

Company has earned award for seven consecutive years with dedication to ethical business practices and sustainability

POMPANO BEACH, Fla.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Mar. 26, 2014-- Waste Management (NYSE:WM), a leading environmental solutions for North America, has been recognized by the Ethisphere Institute, an independent center of research promoting best practices in corporate ethics and governance, as a 2014 World's Most Ethical Company®.

This is the seventh time that Waste Management has been honored with this award, which recognizes organizations that continue to raise the bar on ethical leadership and corporate behavior. World's Most Ethical Company honorees understand the correlation between ethics, reputation and daily interactions with their brand, and that the award belongs as much to their associates as it does to them. Waste Management is one of only two companies in the Environmental Services industry honored this year.

"This recognition reflects our most fundamental commitment to keeping the environment—and our people and our neighbors—safe," said David Steiner, chief executive officer and president of Waste Management. "As an industry leader, we continue to develop strategies to extract value from waste stream to minimize our environmental impact, while at the same time demonstrating a culture where safety and ethics are core beliefs."

"The entire community of World's Most Ethical Companies believe that customers, employees, investors and regulators place a high premium on trust, and that ethics and good governance are key in earning it," said Ethisphere's Chief Executive Officer, Timothy Erblach. "Waste Management joins an exclusive community committed to driving performance through leading business practices. We congratulate everyone at Waste Management for this extraordinary achievement."

The World's Most Ethical Company assessment is based upon the Ethisphere Institute's Ethics Quotient™ framework. The Ethics Quotient framework has been developed over years of effort to provide a means to assess an organization's performance in an objective, consistent and standardized way. The information collected provides a comprehensive sampling of definitive criteria of core competencies, rather than all aspects of corporate governance, risk, sustainability, compliance and ethics. The Ethics Quotient framework and methodology was determined, vetted and refined by the expert advice and insights gleaned from Ethisphere's network of thought leaders and from the World's Most Ethical Company Methodology Advisory Panel.

Scores are generated in five key categories: ethics and compliance program (25%), reputation, leadership and innovation (20%), governance (10%), corporate citizenship and responsibility (25%), and culture of ethics (20%).

"The Florida Area Waste Management team is proud to be an integral part of a corporate team that is honored once again for its ethics and environmental sustainability," said Dawn McCormick, Community Affairs Manager for Waste Management Inc. of Florida. "We value our employees and our customers, and look to provide the best service in the industry every day."
